WALTER G. SMITH - - EDITOR.

THURSDAY : : : : : APRIL 25

There is fresh proof in the dispatches that Li Hung Chang's parents did not call him "Li" for nothing.

It is annoyance to have delayed mails, but an incursion of small pox would be a considerably greater one.

A duty on sugar for the sake of revenue may be imposed by the British Government, but it is likely to put the Cobden Club's flag at half mast.

Mr. Richards complains that the phrase "You cannot legislate man into morality," is too old. But is not an objection young until it is answered?

The Board of Health is not to blame for letting the soldiers land from the Logan, as it could not stand off the passengers of a vessel arriving with a clean bill. In the case of the Kilpatrick, which came here with contagion on board, the health authorities could legally intervene, and they did so with a firm hand.

Readers of Klipping's Jungle Book will note the felicity of the Star's christening phrase of "Bander-log" for this Legislature. But for the well-grounded fear that our native statesmen would promptly vote to supply each member with a Jungle Book and have it translated at $5 per page into Hawaiian, we should advise that the Solons look up the literary derivation of the term "Bander-log" at once.

The Governor will be sustained by the great majority of the taxpayers in his refusal to extend the Legislative session. While the Home Rulers might give some of the additional time to give bills it is certain that they would give more of it to bad ones and heap up, meanwhile, another odoriferous mass of scandal. Where a Legislature is both incompetent and vicious, the less the taxpayers have of it the better will they be satisfied.

Tom Fitch has arrived "to stay," and eschew politics, but if anything is to be judged by his past he will do neither. Fitch belongs to the type of carpet bag adventurers of whom Hawaii has had a sufficiency. We are quite sure that he will find the grass considerably shorter here than he did even in California, Arizona, New Mexico, Oregon, Washington, Utah, Colorado and a dozen other States and Territories that he has tried to work.

The late J. N. Wright was a good citizen of Honolulu, and before that time had been a good soldier of the Union. He was an enthusiast in Grand Army matters and had more to do, perhaps, than any other one man in making the local post a strong and useful organization. It was a pleasure to attend the annual camp fire given upon his estate, and it was a pleasure to meet him in any relation of life. Mr. Wright will not soon be forgotten in this community, upon which his impress is both broad and deep.

The appearance of small pox at Lihue plantation is a serious matter, and one that warrants the Board of Health in taking drastic measures to protect not only the uninfected people on Kauai, but the inhabitants of the other islands. With over 80,000 Asiatics and some 30,000 natives in the group, we have a population that small pox would mow down as with a scythe. Whatever inconvenience quarantine matters may involve, it should be cheerfully accepted by the people. Better the plague itself than a small pox epidemic, so far as public mortality is concerned.

When Joseph Aea was named for West Point, the Advertiser advised him, in case he went East, to buy a return ticket. It now appears that Mr. Aea failed to pass the examination in English, whereupon Delegate Wilcox has named another young Hawaiian, E. V. Richardson, for the place. The chances are ten to one that something untoward will also happen to him. In such event we hope that Delegate Wilcox will have the good sense to open competitive examination to which all comers of suitable age and legal residence may be welcome. That is the custom elsewhere and it is the only one which gives much promise of getting a youth who can surmount the West Point obstacles.

The more chance that is given trolley lines to reach the mountain ridges and the upland valleys the better for the health of the town. Few places ever needed cheap and easy access to high altitude more than Honolulu does. Not many people can go abroad for the change of climate that all need; and but few are able to maintain summer homes on the accessible ridges behind this city. Mere carriage visits to the heights cannot take up enervated systems. What is needed up there are facilities for long visits in hot weather, and these cannot be provided for the people until rapid and cheap communication between lowland and mountain has been established.

It is the misfortune of newspapers that cannot agree with every measure proposed by social reformers to have their motives questioned. Elsewhere Mr. Theodore Richards ventures the remark that "extensive liquor ads" may have kept the press of Honolulu from supporting the Dispensary bill. In point of fact, the liquor interest does but little advertising, the income from its trade announcements being in the aggregate less than the newspaper subscriptions of the friends of the Dispensary bill would total. So far as the Advertiser is concerned the question of business does not intrude upon its editorial policy. As much might have been inferred from its battle with the plumbing trust and its recent criticism of the real estate boom, in which some of its best advertisers are vitally interested. The Dispensary bill did not find support in these columns because it was a lovely dawn measure that could not hope to run the gauntlet of the courts. There was no advertising feature considered; it was with us a question of practicable vs. impracticable reform.

A Vancouver dispatch of April 17 says: By the explosion of the boiler on the river steamer Ramona this afternoon four persons were killed outright and six others were seriously injured. The dead include two women, two passengers on the steamer, and two deck hands. Of the injured the purser and the mate will probably die.

Ward, vice president and manager of the institution, is a self-confessed embezzler to the amount of $25,000 to $30,000. He has also absconded. Ward departed Monday night, and yesterday, Cashier Frank Koots received a letter from Ward.

A Denver dispatch says: It is announced that E. T. Wolverton, a veteran prospector, when searching for copper, stumbled upon an extinct crater from which had overflowed vast quantities of manganese iron. The deposit is said to be so large that it will have marked influence in the steel manufacturing industry. There are also said to be coal deposits in the same vicinity. Engineers are surveying a line for a branch railroad from Little Grande to the iron and coal fields.

A Copenhagen dispatch says: The government is earnestly considering the recent somewhat modified proposal with regard to the sale to the United States of the Danish West Indies, which is considered likely to lead to a satisfactory termination of the negotiations. Official circles are of the opinion that the two governments are now nearer an agreement than they have been at any previous time. The Danish Government ridicules the reiterated reports published in English papers that peremptory communications regarding the sale of the islands have been received from the United States, and says the officials are much impressed with the cordiality and friendliness that the United States has shown throughout the negotiations.

THE SENATE AND HOUSE

friends, and I think this is one of the reasons for the hautes wishing to prevent both languages being taught in the schools. If this bill is not passed, teachers will be imported without interest in our children beyond the drawing of our salary. Our own people should teach our own children. I know a teacher, a half-white, who did not know the difference between chicken and duck in the Hawaiian language.

Mr. Dickey's amendment that the Act be not enforced in private schools was carried.

The bill then passed its second reading with an added section by Kumalae that the Act should not go into effect until the closing of the present school term in September.

House bill 94, to extend School street from Liliha to Kamehameha road next came up.

An invitation from the Young Men's Research Club asking the members of the House to attend Friday evening's meeting was here read.

Beckley: "I move that the invitation be accepted and the Speaker and chaplain instructed to attend." (Kokua.)

Akina: "You ought to be fined for such a suggestion. You are out of order."

Makekau was asleep in his chair at this juncture of the proceedings.

The School street extension bill was then once more taken up.

Mossman said the amount originally agreed upon was $5,000 not $6,000. It is not right that the appropriation for this road be fixed now and other street extensions wait our pleasure until the appropriation bill be fixed. We should show no partiality.

Prendergast: "Very good, Mr. Speaker (Mista Speaka, maikai loa). The amount in the bill is all right. I think so. This road is the only outlet to Kailua."

After much discussion the section including the appropriation was stricken out and the bill was passed unanimously.

Prendergast proposed a recess until 7:30.

Kanoho: "I move we adjourn; I am under the doctor's care and have been added not to go out nights."

Kumalae seconded and the House adjourned, leaving Emmeluth disconsolate over a number of Judiciary reports that he wanted to introduce.

THE JOY OF THE house is the baby. No matter how many have come before, the latest arrival brings joy to all.

When the little one takes his first glimpse of the world he is in, it is a minute of keenest joy.

Father is proud, mother is fond, brother is eager, sisters are tender, nurse is devoted; the whole human world is kind.

There is another, an under, world with enemies in it.

When baby gets into its shadow, be quick with Scott's emulsion of cod-liver oil—he is sure to get into its shadow; let him get no futher than into the edge of it. Health is the baby's life.

We'll send you a little to try, if you like. SCOTT & BOWNE, 409 Pearl street, New York.

Every Exertion a Task Every Care a Burden

There is failure of the strength to do and the power to endure; there is weakness "all over" that is persistent and constant.

The vital functions are impaired, food does not nourish, and the whole system is run down.

A medicine that strengthens the stomach, perfects digestion, invigorates and tones is needed.

What Hood's Sarsaparilla did for Mrs. L. B. Garland, Shady, Tenn., it has done for others. She took it when she was all run down—without appetite, losing flesh, and unable to do her work. It restored her appetite, increased her weight, and made her well and strong. This is her own unsolicited statement.
